

SIMON TAYLOR APPOINTED OPERATIONS DIRECTOR AT THE NOTTINGHAM

NOTTINGHAM – xx APRIL 2011: Simon Taylor has joined Nottingham Building Society (The Nottingham) as operations director, following the appointment of David Marlow as chief executive. He is responsible for the branch network, marketing, distribution, customer service and risk.

Previously he was a regional director for the north of England with Lloyds Banking Group overseeing 150 branches and some 1500 staff. Prior to this he was responsible for the bank's contact centre in Glasgow. Before joining Lloyd's he held roles with Barclays Bank and was a management consultant with Unisys.

Simon Taylor, operations director of The Nottingham, commented:

"I am delighted to be joining The Nottingham, a successful regional building society with a strong customer focus and a commitment to the communities it serves. With a tremendous heritage I believe I have a strong understanding and enthusiasm for the Society's plans and strategy and I look forward to playing an active part in its future success."

David Marlow, chief executive of The Nottingham, said:

"Simon's background and breadth of knowledge will be a great asset to The Nottingham. He brings us a different perspective and will strengthen our executive team. We are very much looking forward to working with him"
